

John M. Malin

American Chemical Society

CHE - 0332444

A first-of-its-kind meeting of chemical scientists and engineers, held December 6-11, 2003 in Malta, united 35 Middle Eastern participants from Egypt, Iran, Israel, Jordan, Palestinian Authority, Kuwait, Lebanon, Turkey, United Arab Emirates and Saudi Arabia with participants from the US, UK, Germany, France, Taiwan and South Africa. Nobel Laureates Claude Cohen-Tannoudji, Dudley Herschbach, Roald Hoffman (upper right photo), Yuan T. Lee (upper left), Jean-Marie Lehn and Rudolph A. Marcus delivered plenary lectures. Conferees discussed plans for multinational chemical research aimed at improving the quality of life regionally and worldwide.

Conferees (from left) Ann Nalley, Sultan Abu-Orabi, Afsaneh Safavi, John Malin, Zafra Lerman, Hanan Malkawi, Boshra Awad and Isa Khubeis

